ITEM III:

For lack of a better name or code to call this Photographic Laboratory and because of security requirements, we have arbitrarily assigned the initials NHQ for the title of the Photographic Laboratory. This will be used only as a temporary code until an official name is assigned to the facility by your people. The "N" stands for National, the first word of the four in your present name. The "HQ" stand for high quality. For all future reference, and unless you note to us at a future date, we will consider this as the NHO Photographic Laboratory.

ITEM IV:

I have made contact with [] via telephone and apparently, they are not having any difficulty in proceeding with the drawings, construction, etc., of the Photochemical Solutions Lab. The problems that they had previously mentioned have been worked out by them through further investigation of the specifications. We are scheduled to have a complete review of what they have accomplished so far, this coming Monday, the 26th of February. There still seems to be a question on the contract itself, although they are proceeding at the present time.
